Open to the public.

During the last eight years, Louie has been diagnosed with cancer five times and her husband has lost two jobs, resulting in their paying outrageous amounts of money per month for COBRA. They are hundreds of thousands of dollars in medical debt. Yet, she still sees the positive. She says: "Some call me an inspiration. I'm not sure about that as I am only doing what I need to do to keep enjoying life. After a car accident 45 years ago, I was given the Last Rites. Is being an inspiration to others why I survived? To bring more awareness to the not-so-common breast cancers; triple negative and inflammatory? Well, if that is the case, then once again I am honored as I have truly enjoyed the ride."

All proceeds go to Louie.

Knowing the struggles Louie is facing emotionally, physically and financially (Butch too), we hope this benefit will help ease her mind and help pay for her prescriptions, copays and the basic cost of living, such as gas, bills (utilities & mortgage), clothing, cleaning supplies, etc.
